When children struggle, families have questions...

- My child with a disability will start school soon. What do I do next?
- My child has to ride the bus to school over an hour every morning and home again in the evening. What do I do?
- My child has trouble understanding social cues. He's become a target for bullying. What do I do?
- My child has medical conditions that interfere with learning. What do I do?

Family Matters Parent Training and Information Center is here to help. In our last fiscal year, we...

- Provided 3,740 individual consultations
- Shared over 7,200 hard copy or electronic newsletters, hundreds of information packets, and resources from our Lending Library
- Trained over 1,400 parents and professionals at in-person trainings, teleconferences, and webinars.
